For a complete guide how to prepare your manuscript refer to the journal's instructions to authors.Using reference management softwareTypically you don't format your citations and bibliography by hand. The easiest way is to use a reference manager:PaperpileThe citation style is built in and you can choose it in Settings > Citation Style or Paperpile > Citation Style or Paperpile > Citation Style in Google Docs.EndNoteFind the style here: output styles overviewMendeley, Zotero, Papers, and othersThe style is either built in or you can download a CSL file that is supported by most references management programs.BibTeXBibTeX styles are usually part of a LaTeX template. Check the instructions to authors if the publisher offers a LaTeX template for this journal.Journal articlesThese examples are references to articles in scholarly journals and how they are supposed to appear in your bibliography. Not all journals organize their published articles in volumes and issues, so these fields are optional. Some electronic journals do not provide a page range, but instead list an article identifier. In a case like this it's safe to use the article identifier instead of the page range.A journal article with 1 authorPollard TD. If you can't locate the report number then it might be better to cite the report as a book. For reports it is usually not individual people that are credited as authors, but a governmental department or agency like "U. S.
